Runabout Struck Bicycle. Frank M. Lincoln had a narrow escape from severely injuring a young fellow on a bicycle Thursday afternoon. Mr. Lincoln was coming up Railroad street from the station in his runabout at a slow rate of speed, when the boy came suddenly out from behind the abutment of the footbridge, directly in his path. Mr. Lincoln stopped as quickly as he was able, but could not avoid a collision. The boy's bicycle was thrown in the air, just escaping Mr. Lincoln's head, and one wheel was damaged as a result of the accident. The boy was not badly injured. Mr. Lincoln took the bicycle to a local dealer's to be repaired, and went off inteedlately to get some liatility insurance which he said he station in the care of the town were wont to congregate.
